> NOTES FROM RUSSIAN TARTARY An occasional correspondent sends the N. C. Daily News the following :- Health-seekers from the Model Settlement and other treaty ports would do well to take a trip to Vladivostock when the opportunity offers, which is likely to be the case this summer, owing to the enterprise of Mr. M. C. Adams, of Nagasaki, a name well known in Shaughai: and opportunities may also present themselves by the new line of Russian steamers, some of which, according to report; are likely to proceed to Vladivostock. Think of it, ye dwellers on the flats of the Hwangpoo. a summer temperature of 65 °, glorious mountain sir and soonery, sea-bathing, sea and river fishing, waving forests of oak, birch, pine, etc., and bill-sides covered with wild flowers, cheap living, and a kindly hospitable people eager to welcome and entertain the stranger. From Nagasaki the route is along the Japanese coast closepast the beautiful islands of Mata-Sima, Hirado, Ikutski, and Iki, not forgetting the well-known Tengo or Aroued Rock, a sight in itself worth the journey, bosides the cone of Takabo; and the sharp peak of Hirado, with the lovely scenery of Siski and the Obree Channel, which, with the fine sea air, is so refreshing to those who have been alternately steamed and baked on the plains of Chiua. From Iki-Sima to Dagelet (Mata: Sima of the Japanese: the course is N. 18 deg. in passing. Dagelet is a beautiful island, wooded to the summit of its highest peak, which rises 4.00 feat above the sea. It is uninhabited except in the summer time, when a few Coreans go there to build junks, leaving when the weather breaks up in the fall. There are some curious rock formations on the island, the most prominent of which is a spike of about 800 feet high stack on to the hill side on the northern slope of the island something like a minature of the Matterhern. Proceeding on a course nearly due north for about 340 miles, the island of Skrypleff, which has a good light on it, is reached, rounding which you enter the Eastern Bosphorus and six miles more bring you to anchor in the Golden Horn. off the settlement of Visdivostock, which is steadily increasing in population and importance. but is destined to be superseded by Port Lazared. which sooner or later the Russians are certain to acquire, as it can be made an excellent naval station, open in winter and easy of defence. which Vladivostock is not. Vessels of war with modern artillery could shell the place from three sides, themselves remaining under shelter, and on each side of the peninaula there is a long stretch of coast where troops could easily be landed, A foreign artillery officer (not Bussian) stated to the writer of this that in his opinion it would require 50,000 men to defend Vladivostock, supposing it properly fortified. The Russian Government do not seem to know what a gold mine they possess in Russian Tartary. The soil will grow anything without manure, timber of conl, iron, and other minerals, while the sea teems with fish, whales, salmon, cod, herrings, eto., and the reefs are covered with edible seaweed. From Arkold to St. Vladimir Bay there are numerous fairly good harbours, several quite sheltered, and every valley opening on the coast has its mountain stream. There are no outlying tooks or dangers. The climate is healthy though the winters are severe. The country seems to bear a great resemblance to the Red River valley in more respects than one, and it certainly seems capable of raising wheat of equal quality. The Russians are like the dog in the manger, they are unable to turn all this wealth to account themselves, and will not allow others to do so. Military law reigns supreme, and the dread of it prevents their own peasantry from taking more out of the soil than will give them black bread and tea. If our American cousins had a footing in Russian Tarunder Russian law all attempts to develope the they want settlers with brains and a little money. They can get plenty if they will give assurance that they will be allowed to enjoy the fruits of their toil. As a place of resort to recruit after the scorohing autumer of Shanghai, commend me to the coast of Russian Tartary. The air is perfention there is an hotel in Vladivostock, and elegraphic communication with Europe and Shanghai. During, the summer the military ands play in the public gardens every evening. A VISIT TO SIBERIA correspondent of The Times, who recently nade a four though Siberia, writes—" I reached my destination (Vladivostock) on September 5th, having crossed Europe and Asia, and having finished a journey from London of 2,600 niles by rail, 5,700 by steamer, and 3,000 by horses. t was necessary to wait a fortnight before any reasel was leaving for Japan. Vladivostook truck me as the prottiest and busiest of the towns of Siberia, and nowhere did I receive a kinder reception. The present Governor and his wife had come out to the place evidently bent on doing what they could for the good of the province. They have been there less than five years, and during that the time the Governor has made roads, laid out pleasure gardens, and done much for the general improvement of the organized among the ladies of the place a charitable society for the relief of the moor: thek have enlarged an educational institution for officers daughters, and have erected the prettiest building in the place as a free school. ouse, not to mention the building of a Protestant church, in which I conducted the first English service. On previous visits I have ever had reason to speak well of Russian hospitality. and this time doubly so, which was the more noticeable since the English were said to be not in favour in Russia. On one occasion at a dinner party a very tiny symptom of this cozed out; but, as a rule, things were in quite the other direction. Whather my cloth and my self-imposed mission had anght to do with this I know not; but my case was not solitary. Only a few weeks before my arrival her Majesty's ship the Iron Duke had been in the harbour of Vladivostock. Above them frowned forts only quite recently created in view of the possibility of England and Russia going to war. The aspect of affairs baving changed however, and the English coming north to escape the heat of the China seas, the English officers were invited to dine at the Jovernor's house, and had left behind a capital impression. Being a frequent grass at the same bouse. I heard them highly spoken of and not only them, but also at a other house by the Ad. miral of the Siberian fleet."

The measure now before the German Parliament guaranteeing interest on the capital of the German Sen-Trading Company will not become law without a protest from several quarters in Germany. In the first place, the private mercantile houses trading with the South Sons are more or less indiguant and jealous at the ap pearance of a rival backed by the power and resources of the German Empire. The Socialist party objects, too, to the nation favouring one firm to the neglect of others. The Progressist party oppose the measure as contrary to sound principles of political economy, and many of the National. Liberals take a similar view. Since then no further details of the affair have been made public. It now appears | Chinese Imperial Loan of 1874-Nominal. that this regicidal and revolutionary plot had its | Chinese Imperial Lean of 1877-Nominal. origin in a shallow and thoroughly farcical court intrigue, designed to advance the interests of two ambitious individuals, while the third was probably hired for gain to do his share in the job. The Wo Loong to travelling trader. second conspirator is no less a personage than Georgaki Boy Aristarchi, a brother of Aristarchi to travelling trader. Bey, the Minister of Turkey to the United States now at Washington. The third man in the intrigue was a vainglorious youth, by name Galanaki, of no very great social importance in himself, but willing to take a hand in any grand enterprise where fame, decoration, or the favour of his superiors was to be gained. Papadopoulas is probably a sort of hare-brained scapegrace, a sort of Byzantine swell of man about town. Georgaki Rey, through family and political influence, holds a position in the imperial housebold as an officer of the Sultan's body-guard. Though living so near the glamour of the throne, however, it appears he did not enjoy much favour from his monarch, and the Sultan, though, from motives of State policy, tolerating Georgaki's occupancy of the post of honour, did not condescend even to speak to him. The officer of the guard tried in various ways to win the Sultan's smile, but to no avail, and his position was a purely nominal one, as Abdal Hamid's repugnance to him was so great that he seldom discharged his duties for fear of being frowned upon. Georgaki Bey is of Greek extraction, and his family belong to the Greek Church. This unhappy courtier, in his efforts to please the Sovereign, even went so far recently, as to adjure the faith of his fathers, renounce the Greek Church, and embrace Islamism. To do this in a Mahomedan land is to make a sacrifice that can scarcely be equalled or appreciated in the United States, and was a strong bid for the flarmometer stracked $1.0 80.0 81.0 80.0 encouragement of the fanatical party in power as the Administration. Papadopoulas, having conceived a dislike for his uncle, who in turn, did not entertain any great respect for his nephew's qualities, and knowing of Seif Ulah's ambition to please the Sultan. conceived a plan which he thought would cut two ways at once, and imparted it to the latter. He proposed, in short, to emulate the example of the rash youth Latude, who for his efforts to play upon the sympathies and gratitude of Mdme. La Pompadour, paid the heavy penalty of some 30 years' sojourn in the Bastille. The plan was carried out, and Seif Ulah was to have the honour of discovering the wicked plot to the Sultan. As he was not permitted to address him orally, he resorted to the pen to communicate the intelligence, and wrote a pretentions letter to Abdul Hamid, informing his Majesty to the effect that there was a desperate scheme to take his life and to overturn the empire; that for the purposes of this foul interprise there were concealed in the house of Dimitriades a large quantity of gunpowder, nitro-glycerine, hand-grenades, and other terrific implements and elements of destruction; and further, that a certain well-known banker, named Zarifa, was also planning and preparing for a revolutionary outbreak in the capital by causing the pupils in certain Greek academies and colleges to be instructed in military science and tactice, and that Zarifa imported and paid, Greek instructors for the purpose, The Saltan and his Ministers were naturally aroused, and there was a vast, though secret, commotion at the swill news. letters for the united states by salling When it is desired to forward letters to the United States by a sailing ship which is not netified as carrying a mail, it is only necessary to post the letters in the ordinary way, marked with the name of the ship, and prepaid 8 cents per half ounce as usual. This Office then undertakes the duty of obtaining notice of departure and despatching the correspondence. It is requested that the letters be posted if possible at least one day before the date fixed for sailing. To provide means of remitting small sums of money to or from this Colony and between the Ports of China, the Postmasters and Agents of this Office are allowed (but not required) to purchase Hongkong Postage Stamps from foreign residents.

The Stamps tendered for sale must not exceed $50 in value, must be perfectly clean, in good condition, and in strips of at least two, as no separate Stamps will be purchased. They must be presented personally or accompanied Letters containing Stamps should be registered, and the Stamps should be secured from observation. Many boxes of letters are received at the Post Office not sealed, that is to say, the box in fastened with sealing wax, but there is no impression of a seal. The attention of boxholders is called to the necessity of carefully sealing such boxes with Bome recognisable seal, and of sending a chit. book or receipt with them. The omission of the latter precaution leaves a doubt as to when ther the contents of the box ever reached the Post Office; the omission of the former, as to whether part of them might not have been ab streeted for the take of the Posters Stamps.
